Paul brings more than twenty-five years of litigation and trial experience to the firm. He represents individuals, businesses of all sizes, and insurers as defendants and plaintiffs in disputes arising from catastrophic personal injury claims, construction accident and defect claims, toxic torts, product liability and trucking and transportation claims.

Further, Paul also acts as monitoring counsel for several 'excess insurers' and often gets involved in the defense when as trial appears likely.

Paul sits on the Board of Directors for the Massachusetts Defense Lawyer's Association and has a lengthy and notable record of defense verdicts and trial results in Courts and administrative agencies across Massachusetts and Connecticut.
